Kenney and the next United States Senator from Delaware is a triumphant victory for the silver man. Like Mr. Bryan, I believe that the future of the great cause of bimetalism depends largely upon the men who will be elected in the United States Senate in the next four years, and I desire to say right here that I am unalterably in favor of bimetalism and will vote unflinchingly for it to the end."

Server. The other nine men are presumed to have been lost.

Henderson was directed to be on the lookout for the barge, but up to midnight no word had been received. The river is running very heavy with ice and the night is fearfully cold, so that there is little hope that any of the men will be able to survive the night if they are held out in the river as now seems certain they are.

The barge was seen at Howell, it is stated, but too late to have been rescued. Scores of men are carrying torches along the river bank, and every effort will be made to locate the barge.
